

ANNUAL RESEARCH CONFERENCE²⁰²²

HOW TO TURN GREEN
IN THE EUROPEAN WAY?
20-21 SEPTEMBER 2022

SEVILLE - SPAIN

▶ SAVE THE DATE!

REGISTRATION: FREE TO ATTEND

Pre-register here (before 15 July for physical attendance)

The Joint Research Centre (JRC) and the Directorate General for Economic and Financial Affairs (ECFIN) are pleased to announce the 2022 Annual Research Conference.

Topic

The Conference is organised to answer “How to turn green in the European way? Keeping the cutting edge while remaining fair and social”.

To answer this question, the Conference shall look into the different aspects of a successful green transition and address the questions on how to

- design appropriate policies and instruments to incentivize a green transition;
- change production and consumption patterns;
- engineer the necessary private and public investment/technological transformation (timing and size, without overburdening balance sheets);
- bring about the necessary innovation and human capital accumulation.

while preserving social cohesion and the cohesion of the EU.

Purpose

The Annual Research Conference (ARC) aims to be a major forum to bring together research produced by both academic and international institutions, and aims to reach out to researchers and those who support policy design at the European and national levels. It is critical to highlight that the European Union is an organization where decision-making is evidence- and knowledge-based. To achieve this goal, the Conference will invite presentation of high quality, unpublished papers.

ANNUAL
RESEARCH
CONFERENCE²⁰²²

Programme

The ARC2022's programme consists of opening, keynote (by Ottmar Edenhofer), panel and closing plenary sessions, four parallel sessions (3 papers presented and discussed in each session), research pitch and poster sessions, organised over two half-days. Please check the conference website for a full programme and updates.

Venue

The event will be hybrid, organised both online and at CaixaForum Sevilla, close by the JRC's premises at Seville, Spain. The JRC in Seville is the fourth largest European Commission site after Brussels, Luxembourg and Ispra. Established in 1994 as a technological prospective research institute, it is today considered as one of Europe's leading research centres in Economics. Located in the headquarters of the former International Exhibition Expo'92, in beautiful Sevilla, Andalusia, Spain, a city of around 700 thousand inhabitants of significant historical relevance to Spain's and Europe's history, with top cultural heritage, linked by international airport and high-speed train connections.

Registration

To participate in the Conference, either remotely or in person, please pre-register at:

Please note that the number of participants that can physically attend the conference is limited due to space limitations. Therefore, pre-registration by 15 July 2022 does not guarantee you a seat. Details for participation will be sent by email to accepted participants.

Participation

Please send your submissions to our calls for posters for early career researchers or to our call for scientific pitches by 15 May 2022 to ECFIN-JRC-ARC-poster@ec.europa.eu.

Key Dates

Deadline submissions for call for posters and pitches	15 May 2022
Decision on candidates selection	15 June 2022
Deadline for pre-registration (only for physical attendance)	15 July 2022
Decision on physical attendee's acceptance	20 July 2022
Deadline for the submission of poster and video presentation	1 August 2022
Conference dates	20 – 21 September 2022

Organizers

Salvador Barrios, István P. Székely, Antonio F. Amores, Bruno Castanheira

Contact

ECFIN-JRC-ARC@ec.europa.eu

ANNUAL
RESEARCH
CONFERENCE 2022

